Aren't those illustrations rad as heck? Thanks to Britt Sabo for providing them!

Check out Britt's work at allnightcomic.com and bsabo.com

Alright!
So I need to get serious for a little bit here.

Here we go.
To the serious
corner
SRS
corner

SRS
Corner

SAS
corner

As I stated a few episodes ago, I went on a long trip. I had worked with guest artists to get Nanisivik 1983 created, so that no filler would need to be posted due to my vacation

Well. The best laid plans of mice and men and all that.

In the weeks leading up to my vacation, I was the victim of fraud. I won't go into the details here, but suffice to say it was a real mess – one that I am still cleaning up.

I think that the worst is over, but this has been one of the most stressful things I have ever experienced

For two weeks
it obliterated my ability to work

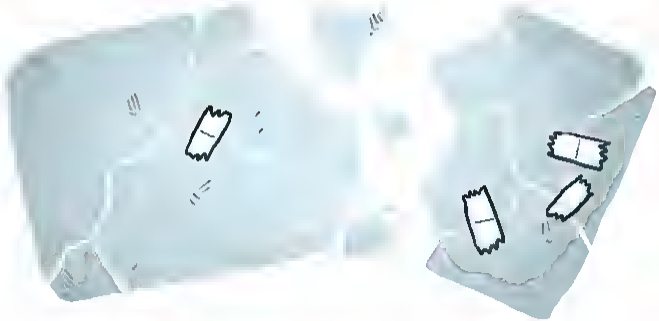
My vacation helped me recoup. While away, I worked on today's episode to the best of my ability, but lacked access to the supplies I needed to do the bulk of the art.

The vacation wasn't planned with work in mind.

And you know? That's okay

It shouldn't have been

My apologies, readers. I tried. I really didn't want to have to post filler this week. Every time I skip an update it bums me out. But Murphey's Law found a way.



Thank you for your patience, your understanding, and your readership.
Seeya next week